

Hemorrhoid Information - the Causes and the Symptoms and the Treatments

Around half of the population suffers from hemorrhoids before the age of 50, and anybody that has suffered from hemorrhoids knows how bad the condition can be. That is why I want to share with you how i got rid of my own and delivered to normal life. First of all nevertheless, lets look at what hemorrhoids are and what they can do to you.

What are Hemorrhoids?

Hemorrhoids tend to be a condition where the veins around the anus or the lower rectum become enlarged and inflamed. They can be internal (under the skin) or around the external (around the anus). They can be the result of many different things, and also it is often hard to pin down the cause for certain people, but examples of causes are: forcing to maneuver stool, pregnancy, ageing(very typical cause), constipation or diarrhea, and anal intercourse. They are nothing to be embarrassed about (although a lot of people are embarrassed when they develop them) and they are extremely frequent.

What are the Symptoms?

The symptom of internal hemorrhoids most generally reported is blood within the stool or on toilet paper, or even in the toilet bowl. In fact an internal hemorrhoid may even project through the anus outside the body, becoming irritated and painful. External hemorrhoids are often detected by the sufferer reporting an unpleasant swelling or a hard lump around the anus which is a result of blood clot(s) that form. Hemorrhoids are often are not dangerous but can be very painful and will last for weeks in the event that left untreated.
